

An elderly

This player is 76 years old. She has been retired for several years and enjoys taking walks in the parks around her home to see people, feed the animals, sit and watch people go by. She has difficulty getting around and so uses a cane. Her children and grandchildren are not always available to accompany her, so she may ask other players for help. If another player is on her square, they pass their turn.

Salary: € 1.5 M.

A kid

This player is 10 years old. On his way to school, he goes through the park next to his house. The parks are a place where he meets his friends to run around, cool off in the fountains, and enjoy the playgrounds and sports areas to play ball.

Salary: € 1.2 M.

A woman

This player is 28 years old. She is a young working woman who takes her lunch break, whenever she has time and the weather is good, in a park. She has to pass through a park on her way to and from work, and it is often dark. She feels uncomfortable and prefers to take a diversion so as not to take any risks. On weekends, she comes to walk her dog.

Salary: € 1.8 M.

A disabled man

The player is 36 years old. He has a disease that has left him a paraplegic, he can only get around in a wheelchair. He is confronted with the lack of accessibility in parks: no railings or lifts, no specific facilities in the playgrounds, narrow paths and difficulty in getting onto the lawn... This lack of adapted infrastructures makes him feel excluded. He often has to go out of his way to hope to find more suitable spaces.

Salary: € 1.5 M.

A white privileged man

This player is 48 years old. This man is a manager in a large group and his schedule is very full. He leaves early in the morning and comes back late at night from work. When he is away on business, he sometimes takes the opportunity to visit new places in the evening. He does not mind if it is dark. He is well off financially and has an influential network.

Salary: € 2.0 M.

A monoparental mother

This player is 31 years old. She has recently gone through a complicated separation from her abusive ex-partner and has to look after her two children aged 2 and 5 on her own. She would like to work less to take care of them more, but her financial situation is tight. When she has free time, she takes her children to playgrounds where she can let them play safely. She uses a pushchair which sometimes makes her journey more complicated.

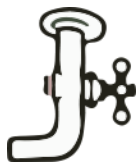

Salary: € 1.5 M.
